A search engine finds documents by keywords.
Search engines build an inverted index.
The index maps every word to documents.
Search quality depends on ranking.